

Our Brilliant Coaching™ feelings wheel can help you identify and better understand your emotions in the moment, which can be a helpful step in processing and managing them.

The wheel can be a useful tool for improving emotional intelligence and communication skills, both in your personal relationships and in professional settings.

